In her thoughts of her new mother, and in the love and trust overflowing her pure heart towards her, Florence loved her own dead mother more and more. She had no fear of setting up a rival in her breast. The new flower sprang from the deep-planted and long-cherished root, she knew. Every gentle word that had fallen from the lips of the beautiful lady, sounded to Florence like an eche of the voice long hushed and si-lent. How could she love that memory less for living tenderness, when it was her me-mory of all parental tenderness and love! Florence was, one day, sitting reading in her room, and thinking of the lady and her promised visit soon—for her book turned on a kindred subject-when, raising her on a kindred subject—when, raising her eyes, she saw her standing in the doorway.

"Mamma!" cried Florence, joyfully meeting her, "come again!"

"Not mamma yet," returned the lady, with a serious smile, as she encircled Florence's neck with her arm.

"But very soon to be," cried Florence. "Very soon now, Florence; very soon."
Edith bent her head a little, so as to press the blooming cheek of Florence against her own, and for some few moments remained thus, silent. There was something so very tender in her manner, that Florence was even more sensible of it than on the first occasion of their meeting.
She led Florence to a chair beside her, and sat down : Florence looking in her face, quite wondering at its beauty, and willingly leaving her hand in hers. "Have you been alone, Florence, since was here last?"

'Oh yes !" smiled Florence, hastily. She hesitated and cast down her eyes for her new mamma was very earnest in her look, and the look was intently and thoughtfully fixed upon her face.

"1-1-am used to be alone," said Flo "I don't mind it all. Di and I pass whole days together, sometimes."— Florence might have said, whole weeks,

"Is Di your maid, love?" "My dog, mamma," said Florence, laughing. "Susan is my maid."
"Are these your rooms," said Edith, looking round. "I was not shown these rooms the other day. We must have them improved, Florence. They shall be made the prettiest in the house."

"If I might change them, mamma," returned Florence; "there is one up stairs I should like much better."

"Is this high enough, dear girl?" asked

Edith, smiling.

"The other was my brother's room," said Florence, "and I am very fond of it.

I would have spoken to papa about it when I came home, and found the workmen here, and everything changing; but—"
Florence again dropped her eyes, lest the same look should make her falter again. -"but I was afraid it might distress him as you said you would be here again soon mamma, and are the mistress of everything, I determined to take courage and ask you." Edith sat looking at her, with her bril-liant eyes intent upon her face, until Florence, raising her own, she, in turn, withdrew her gaze, and turned it on the ground. It was then that Florence thought how different this lady's beauty was from what she had supposed. She had thought it of a proud and lofty kind; yet her manner was so subdued and gentle, that if she had been of Florence's own age and character, it scarcely could have invited confidence Except when a constrained and singular reserve crept over her: and then she seem-ed (but Florence hardly understood this, though she could not choose but notice it, and think about it) as if she was humbled before Florence, and ill at ease. When she had said that she was not her mamma yet, and when Florence had called her the mistress of everything there, this change asked some questions concerning poor Paul; and when they had sat in conversation for some time, told Florence she had come to take her to her own home.

"We have come to London now, my mother and l," said Edith, "and you shall stay with us until I am married. I wish that we should know and trust each other, children of her neighbors, it was a new and precious sensation to think that they might soon speak together and know each other; when she would not fear, as of old, to show herself before them, lest they should be grieved to see her in her black dress sitting there alone!

In her thoughts of her new mother, and in the love and trust overflowing her pure heart towards her, Florence loved her own

The Galvanic Rings have been used with entire success in all cases of rheumatism, acute or chronic, applying to the head, face, or limbs; gout, it-doloreux, toothache, bronchitis, vertigo, nervous or sick headache, indigestion, paralysis, palsy, epilepsy, fits, ramp, palpitation of the heart, apoplexy, stiffness of the joints, spinal complaints, lumbago, neuralgia, nervous tremors, dizziness of the head, pains in the chest and side, general debility, deficiency of nervous and physical energy, and all nervous disorders. In cases of confirmed dyspepsia, which is simply a nervous derangement of the digestive organs, they have been been found equally successful. Their extraordinary effects upon the system must be witnessed to be be belived, and as a certain preventive for the preceding complaints they are equally recommended. The rings are of different prices, being made of all sizes, and of various ornamental patterns, and can be worn by the most delicate female without the slightest inconvenience. In fact, the sensation is raher exceedible than otherwise. slightest inconvenience. In fact, the sensation is ra-her agreeable than otherwise.

The Galvanic Belts, Bracklets, Bands, Gar-

THE GALVANIC BELTS, BRACKETS, BANDS, GARTERS, NECKLACES, &C. &C.—These articles are adapted to the waist, arms, wrists, limbs, ankles, or any part of the body with perfect convenience. The Galvanic Nocklaces are used with greater benefit in cases of bronchitis or affections of the throat generally; also, in cases of nervous deafness; and with almost uniform success as a preventive for appoplexy, epileptic fits, and similar complaints.

Christic's Magnetic Fluid is used in connexion with the Galvanic Rings, and all their modifications. This composition has been pronounced by the French Chemists to be one of the most extraordinary discoveries of modern science. Full explanations and directions accompany it. The combined inventions are in every way perfectly harmless; they are at prices within reach of all, and the discoverer only requests a fair trial, as a test of their surprising efficacy and permanent benefit.

Christic's Galvanic Streengermenning Plasters.—These articles form another valuable applications.

CHRISTIE'S GALVANIC STRENGTHENING PLASTERS.—These articles form another valuable application of the mysterious influence of Galvanism. They are an important adjunct to the genuine Galvanic Rings and their modifications, acting upon the same principle, but having the advantage of more local application. They are confidently recomended as a valuable addition in the speedy cure of rheumatism, acute or chronic; in all nervous complaints, and as a positive remedy in cases of pain and weakness in the cheat or back, pain in the side, in asthmatic affection, and in weakness or oppression of the suimponary or. chest or back, pain in the side, in asthmatic affections, and in weakness or oppression of the pulmonary organs. In spinal complaints their effects are of the most decided character, and they have often been used with complete success. They are also of the greatest advantage in pains and weakness of the breast, and are highly recommended for many of those complaints to which females are especially liable. As an effectual means for strengthening the system when debilitated with disease and other causes, as a certain aid in constitutional weakness, as a preventive for colds, and in all affections of the chest generally, the Galvanic Strengthening Plasters will be found of great and permanent advantage.

CAUTION. The celebrity and success of these articles have caused them to be counterfaited by unprincipled persons. Dr. Christic cautions the public against spurrous imitations. AND READY WASH BALLS and TABLETS pleasingly efficacious in removing all bardness, stain, redness, and all other cutaneous disfigurement; preventing and rendering the skin soft, fair, and phable. From the nice combination of Baleamic ingredients introduced into the composition, they form a fine Creamy Lather, with the hardest or Sea Water, which renders them very desirable for Salt Water Baths. They produce the most softening and refreshing sensation, and will be found an excellent substitute for the Flash Brush.

They are highly recommended to Captains of Ships, Merchants, and all who trade with fereign countries, as they will retain their virtue in any climate. For sale by CHAS, STOTT.

Potent Blacking.—Mr. J. Wellar, No. 50, Chesnut St., has prepared a Patent Liquid Blacking, which produces a beau i'ul jet Polish, and does not up to the leather. Those who would have a polished understanding should read the advertisement in another column.—U. S. Gazette, May I.

Wellar's Patent Japan Blacking is about the best article of the kind we have seen. The poish which it imparts to the understandings of man is brill ant and lating; we have tried it and it boots us to say all this in its behalf.—Evening Bulletin, June 7th.

The Manufactorer can produce numerous testi-monials similar to the above, from private individuals and from other papers, but the above extracts are sufficient to convince any person that the manufac-turer has not exaggerated; but that upon a fair trial the Blacking will be found as represented, excellent in ever respect. Go and do like wise.—Spirit of the Times, April

By reference to another column, an advertisement will be found for an excellent article of Blacking, in a Liquid form for Boots, &c. It has been highly recommended by many who have tried it. It not only gives, with very little trouble, a beautiful jet polish, but retains it much longer than any other. It is sold by the Agent of the Manufacturer at No. 50, Chesnut street. Buy a bottle, one trial will prove the fact.—Phil. Ledger, April 23.
